

EXPERIENCED WRITERS WANTED

The Karma Group is seeking a diverse array of writers/screenwriters for immediate development of a script/documentary/book. The subject matter deals with real life events surrounding an ongoing $800 million white-collar corruption scandal with constitutional violations and multiple botched cover-up attempts. It involves certain of the top global accounting firms, as well as several high profile Canadian law firms. The central theme of the work will chronicle the now decade long struggle between Erwin Singh Braich, 53, a prominent international industrialist and philanthropist, and certain parties.

This compelling saga illuminates bizarre and repeated misconduct by officers of the court, trusted civil servants, and others with a fiduciary duty to the general public. These malfeasances include tampering, perjury, brazen abuse of due process, corporate intimidation, and false allegations of criminal activity which led to improperly obtained Warrants for arrest. There are, of course, the all too common threads of double-cross, deceit, theft, and greed.

Our offshore based group is looking for experienced writers to tell this story from a variety of perspectives. Voluminous and impeccable reference material will be provided, including but not limited to official court transcripts, documents, tape recordings, photographs, and sworn statements by witnesses and insiders. This project has a multi million dollar budget and title credits are available. Upon completion this work will be translated for the benefit of foreign distributors.
